"Experts in Centennial Software's Discovery and DeviceWall Solutions"

25,000 and counting...

Our part in a major project involving the deployment of about 25,000 desktops/laptops across Europe has been concluded.

We have been involved in various elements of this project for ten months.

All the experiences from old asset discovery, procedures and practices in the scheduling and deployment of machines are ready for partners of Centennial Software to promote to their customers.

And now we can generate leads for you too...

Anything4aEuro and eLead Inc. combine forces to create a complete service infrastructure for Centennial Software Partners. Anything4aEuro has been providing technical resources for Partners of Centennial Software for some time now. Now, we, by way of eLead Inc. can provide telesales and sales lead development to help you grow your organisation. See news in brief or click here for more details >>

Anything4aEuro is....

.... A Partner for Partners of Centennial Software. We provide technical resources for pre-sales, installations and post-installation support for Centennial Discovery and DeviceWall

We fill "gaps" in your resource shortfall, be it for holiday or sickness cover, or a need for "expansion cover" on a contract basis. Click here for more details >>

Quiz Time

You may have noticed the penguin theme on our website. It's to create a bit of humour and interest in something other than the computer industry. Only for fun but the winner will get a mention in the next newsletter

Our questions (all can be found on the website)

1. What is the deepest known dive that a male Emperor Penguin has achieved?
2. How much weight will a penguin lose while looking after it's eggs?

Send your answers to quiz2@anything4aeuro.com
